

Code of conduct:

- At Venlo Sport Crusaders everyone is welcome to come and play basketball.
- Everyone has their own qualities, we are all different, and we understand and accept that.
- We show respect towards teammates, coaches, opponents, referees, etc.
- Violence, sexual transgressive behaviour, bullying, threats, racist remarks, and discrimination are strictly forbidden.
- We help and support each other during practice and matches.
- Talk to each other, and not behind each other's back.
- Watch your language on the court as well as off the court in chat groups and social media.
- We are respectful of all the materials and handle them with care (baskets, balls, benches etc.)
- On the court and in the dressing room we go "off-line", we came here to play basketball.
- Give each other positive feedback and play by the rules.

Venlo Sport Crusaders thinks it's important to have a safe sports climate and therefore expect all members of the club to uphold our code of conduct. The board of Venlo Sport Crusaders will talk with those who have a hard time living by these rules.

Within the club, we have a confidant. If you run into any problems, you can approach Miranda van Leysen.
